HOSTILE INDIANS.—There is no disguising the fact that our relations with the Indians of the plains have not for a long time been in such an unsatisfactory condition as they are at the present moment. Not only are there large bodies of hostile savages hovering on our northern frontier and ready at anytime to desolate our peaceful agricultural settlements, but it now appears that the Platte valley road is infested with pestiferous redskins, who have just killed three men at Riverside Station, about twenty-five miles this side of Julesburg. The Smoky Hill road is also threatened by a large party of Arapahoes who have already driven off several station-keepers. We do not think it likely that the Indians who perpetrated the raid at Riverside are a portion of the Sioux and Cheyennes, who may be said to hold possession of the country between Laramie and Fort Phil. Kearny. It is more probable that the outrage above alluded to is the work of a party of the Arapahoes who are emcamped in the neighborhood of the Smoky Hill road: but, at the same time, there is every reason to apprehend that the Sioux and Cheyennes will come south after plunder on our channels of communication with the East. By joining themselves to those of their allies, the Arapahoe nation, who may be ready to take the war-path, they would form a most formidable body to cope with, and before a sufficient number of troops could be got together to drive them off, would be able to seriously damage our interests.

That there is not nearly a sufficient number of troops now on the plains to even protect the great lines of travel, much less to undertake vigorous offensive operations against the savages, is a fact pretty generally admitted, and it seems to us that it will require a large and efficent cavalry force to afford us anything like permanent security from the insidious foe. It is hoped that those in authority will perceive the utter uselessness of stationing infantry at the forts on the plains. If it be impossible to send a sufficient force of regular cavalry, why not mount the infantry on good horses and thus place them in a position to inflict some damage on their opponents. The war, which may now be said to have been inaugurated, the people of Colorado will demand that it be prosecuted this time until the power of the redskins in these latitudes is completely crushed. The system of bribing the Indians to keep the peace by pensioning and feeding them, has had its day. It has been given a fair trial and failed most dismally; and now it is time they should be made to feel the power of the whites. It will never do to have bands of Indians dashing down and tearing up portions of the U. P. R. R., which they will soon learn to do if not cleared off in advance of the iron horse.

The advice given by General Grant, that the management of the Indians be handed over from the Interior to the War Department, ought to be attended to. Officers in the U. S. army who have something else to look forward to besides what they can accumulate by dealing with the Indians, would certainly do greater justice to the nation and at a less expense than the "agents" now employed.—Denver Gazette.

NATIONAL PROPOSITIONS.—The Chimney Corner, that very interesting periodial of Frank Leslie's, has the followlng in its "funny column," on "characteristic popping":

Yankee: Jonathan—"Sall, der yer love doughnuts?"

Sall—"Yes, Jonathan; why?"

Jonathan—"Oh, nothin'; only jus consider me one o' them doughnuts."

Western: Loquacious Individual—"Hollo, old gal—see here! I've scaterlofistercated all over the equinimity of this 'ere country looking for just sich a critter as you. What say—will yer hitch?"

Western Gal—"O Shucks—I calkerlate; so let's git up and git."

Dutch: Hans—"Ich will haben you, Johannas. I loves you more better than I does mein lager bier."

Johannas—"Oh—ya, Hans: dat ist good."

French: French Gallant—"Oh, Mademoiselle, will you do me ze very much honor to accept ze hand?"

Mademoiselle—"Oh, Monsieur—you make my face very much rouge. Ask Madam. Voulez-vouz?"

Jew: Hammah—"Matilda, I have five gold watches, almost as good as new—von good lot of second-hand clothing, and von good camel-hair shawl, which I will give to you if you will be mine bride."

Matilda—"Dear Hamman, I can't resist: but let me see the camel-hair shawl first."

Irish: Patrick—"Biddy, darling—would yeez like a new house, a cow, a pig, and meself in the bargain?"

Bridget—"Och, Paddy—don't be taxing me! 'Tis the Praste we're afther wanting."

Joe King was sick in a boarding house, and had made up his mind for some nice chicken broth. The order went down to the kitchen, and the broth came up weak, flat and insipid. The sick man was subsequently relating his disappointment to a friend, who said, "They just let the chicken wade through it." "If they did," said Joe King faintly, "it had on stilts."

Fort Grant and Fort Mason (Calabosas) have been abandoned, and new forts are at once to be established on the San Pedro, near Buerous Canon and at Green Valley, in Tonto Basin. These are important points. A camp is ordered at El Dorado Canon; and also at Rock Springs, on the Mohave and San Bernardino road.—Arizona Miner.

INDIANS.—Speaking of the frontier Indians, their murders and their depredations, the Houston Telegraph says: Extermination should be the doom of these enemies of the human race; they have placed themselves out of the pale of humanity; their crimes deserve this punishment; it is the only effectual security for our people.

STILL THEY COME.—A large number of miners from Idaho and Montana have lately arrived at Prescott, and many more are on the road. Let them not be discouraged by the comparative inactivity here. The Spring will, we believe, be lively and afford fine business chances.—Arizona Miner.

The Memphis Avalanche claims that Gen. B. G. Hill, of Warren county, Tenn., was the last Confederate officer who surrendered himself and forces, and who fought the last battle of the war. He was paroled at Chattanooga on the 17th of May, 1865.

Salt Lake City, November 5, 1866.

Fee-Simple Titles to Mineral Lands.

On the 26th of July, 1866, an Act of Congress was approved to enable claimants of gold, silver, cinnabar and copper veins to obtain from the Government a patent conveying a fee-simple title. For a law, which was supposed to involve so many intricacies, the Act is peculiarly clear, simple and, one would suppose, easy of execution and enforcement. That it is eminently just and demanded by the wide-spread mineral interests of the country is manifest. It provides substantially that any claimant or association of persons in the actual and undisputed occupancy by working, of a vein of any of the metals specified above, and who have expended a sum of not less than one thousand dollars in actual labor and improvements thereon, may obtain a patent for such tract on complying with the local laws, customs and rules of the miners of the district, and filing in the local land office a diagram of the tract or vein taken up. Upon filing this diagram and posting it on the claim, with a notice of intention to apply for a patent, the register of the land office is required to publish the notice for ninety days in the nearest newspaper, and also post it in his office. If at the expiration of this time no adverse claimant appear, the Surveyor General surveys the premises, makes a plat of the same, and the register on the payment by the claimant of five dollars per acre, with the cost of the survey, transmits the plat, survey and description to the General Land Office, whereupon the patent issues.

Locations made on unsurveyed lands are authorized with the proviso that the future public surveys shall be adjusted to the limits of the premises as originally located and surveyed. It is also provided that no locations made after the passage of the Act shall exceed two hundred feet in length along the vein for each locator, with an additional claim for discovery to the discoverer of the vein, and no other person is allowed to make more than one location on the same lode, nor shall any association take more than three thousand feet on each vein.

In case of any adverse claim being interposed, proceedings are stayed until the claimants settle their differences in some court of competent jurisdiction.

Now, as we have said, all this is very simple, and the machinery of the law free from complexity. Yet, we understand that in California and Nevada, where vast mining interests have arisen, claimants of veins of ore are unable to perfect their titles as authorized by the law, because the land officers decline to act until the Department at Washington adopts rules and regulations for their guidance. We had been under the impression that the miners of Utah, who desire to obtain patents for silver mines developed by them, were unfortunate because we have not a single land office in the whole Territory. But, as misery is said to love company, our miners can solace themselves with the consoling reflection that even in California, where they have land offices established, they are no better off in this particular. The machinery can't be set in motion, because it seems to be bound up in that strongest of all cordage—"red tape." By and by, and at a not very distant day, we hope, land offices will be established in Utah, as well for the interests of the agricultural as the mining portion of the population. As it is, the farmers, no less than the miners, are mere squatters on the public domain, with only possessory rights and no real title to the soil they cultivate or dig.

At the last session of Congress, however, that body for the first time recognized these possessory rights of miners on the public domain, and gave their rules and regulations the force of law. In the Act detaching part of Utah and adding it to Nevada, it was expressly provided "that all possessory rights acquired by citizens of the United States to mining claims, discovered, located and originally recorded in compliance with the rules and regulations adopted by the miners in the Pahranagat and other mining districts in the Territory ceded * * * * *, shall remain as valid subsisting mining claims." This Act was approved May 5th, 1866.

In the Act of July 26th, 1866, above referred to, the mineral lands of the public domain are declared to be "free and open to exploration and occupation by all citizens of the United States, and those who have declared their intention to become citizens, subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by law, and subject also to the local customs or rules of miners in the several mining districts, so far as the same may not be in conflict with the laws of the United States."

Throughout the whole of that Act, authorizing pre-emptions of mining ground and the issuing of patents therefor, the regulations of the miners in the Districts are recognized and made valid and binding. This was done in California at an early day, so far as the Legislature of the State could do it, and it is gratifying to know that Congress has at last done tardy justice in this matter. It saves an infinite amount of complex legislation and litigation, and makes the miners of each district a sort of local legislature for the government of their communities in all that pertains to their mining property interests.

U. P. R.—A rumor is floating on our streets that Mr. Durant has resigned the Vice Presidency of the Union Pacific Railroad.

The managers of the Road are now in consultation at the principal office in New York City upon matters pertaining to its interests, and its construction next season with greater rapidity than ever before.—Omaha Republican, Jan. 26th.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

Washington, February 7.

Delegates from fourteen tribes of Indians in Kansas are now here, and have agreed with Commissioner Rogy upon the preliminaries of treaties which will be signed this week. The Indians have agreed to remove to what is known as Lee's land in the Indian country, formerly occupied by the Creeks and Seminoles. The lands in Kansas belonging to them are valued at from $1 to $4 per acre, and will be sold and the proceeds invested for their benefit.

The differences which existed between the Indian Bureau and the Commander-in-Chief of the Army, relative to the appointment of the military part of the Commission to investigate as to the causes of the massacre at Fort Phil. Kearny, have been harmoniously adjusted. General Sully and Colonel Parker are designated as the military officers to be assigned to that duty. It is believed the result of this Commission's labors will be to counteract the bad feeling which has shown itself among the Indians, and avert the troubles with the different tribes which are now threatening.

The Tribune's special says that in the Tax bill reported to-day there are but few articles in the free list, and those of minor importance. All incomes below $1,000 are exempted; all above that figure are uniform at 5 per cent. Cigars are $2.00 @ $8.00. Such stringent provisions are made as will, it is thought, prevent frauds. The Committee was compelled to abandon the idea of making large reductions, as it is believed the receipts will greatly fall off, owing to the stagnation of business, during the next fiscal year. It is estimated that the reductions proposed will reach about $20,000,000.

A Good One.—During the first years of the war, when change was scarce and some large firms were issuing currency of ther own, a farmer went to a store in a neighboring town and bought some goods, and gave the merchant a five dollar bill, of which he wanted seventy-five cents back. The merchant counted out the amount and handed it over to the farmer. He looked at it a moment and inquired, "What's this?" "It's my currency," said the merchant. "Wal, 'taint good for nothin' where I live," said the farmer. "Very well," replied the merchant, "keep it until you get a dollar's worth and bring it to my store and I will give you a dollar for it." The farmer pocketed the change and departed. A few weeks after he went into the same store and bought goods to the amount of one dollar, and after passing over to him the identical seventy-five cents, he took out a handful of pumpkin seeds and counted out twenty-five of them, and passed them over to the merchant. "Why," says the merchant, "what's this." "Wal," says the farmer, "this is my currency, and when you get a dollar's worth, bring it out to my place and I will give you a dollar bill for it."

FROM THE WEST.

[From the Virginia Union.]

San Francisco, February 2.

The preliminary examination of the charge of grand larceny, preferred by E. S. Haskell, against O. Audibrot, of the stock broking firm of Koenig & Co., was commenced in the Police Court yesterday morning. The prosecuting witness stated that instead of showing a loss, the hasty examination of the firm's accounts showed that they had done a successful business, and that their profits for the month of December were some $4,000. He was of the opinion that defendant still had his money, and more besides.

Judge Hoffman, yesterday, sentenced John Kelly to six months' imprisonment for stabbing H. M. Rook, the mate of the ship Western Empire.

Gold sold in New York yesterday at 135¼, a slight advance; sterling was dull at 108⅝. Legal tenders are a shade easier, buying at 74 and selling at 74¼.

A private telegram received by the consignees, Geo. Howes & Co., announces the arrival at Liverpool, January 30th, of the ship Black Hawk, 107 days hence. This is the quickest trip ever made between the two ports by a clipper of this class. The extreme clipper ship Panama once made the passage in about 95 days. The Black Hawk is 1,126 tons register, and her outward cargo hence consisted of 1,628 tons of wheat. Under the circumstances, the trip may be considered the best ever made.

An Amusing Scene.—The Alta California of the 30th ult., under the head of "Shocking Affair," gives the following amusing account of a visit to the Fire Alarm Telegraph Office:

A fanciful arrangement of the wires in the Fire Alarm Telegraph Office, in the City Hall, has created not a little amusement of late, to insiders; the outsiders did not enjoy it so much. On one occasion a messenger was sent down to the repotorial rendezvous in the northeast corner of the Police Court-room, to request all members of the press and police to step up to the office and witness a new and striking experiment in electricity. A rush was made, and officer Carpenter, who is generally foremost in the field of duty, led the procession. As he stepped on the door-mat and seized the knob of the door, he suddenly commenced making the most hideous grimaces, and seemed to be endeavoring to draw his head down bodily into his shoulders in the same manner as a turtle pulles his head into his shell. The wags inside let up when they thought he had enough, and explained that one wire from the battery connected with the door-knob, and the other with the mat, which was kept wet to insure the transmission of a good dose of the magnetic fluid, and, of course, to complete the circuit it was only necessary to stand on the mat and grasp the door-knob. This was voted a knobby affair, and the party went inside. While all were laughing heartily over the joke, one of the party say down in a chair, and placed his feet, Yankee style, on the edge of the stove, whereupon demonstration No. 2—which was a repetition of No. 1, with variations—took place. By this time all hands were posted, and it was conceded that no more such jokes could be played on the crowd just at that time. Just as this satisfactory conclusion was arrived at, one of the visitors slipped to the corner of the room to get a drink, took up the metallic drinking cup, fastened with a chain, and turned the moveable faucet to let on the water. This last motion completed a circuit again, and demonstration No. 3, with fresh variations, took place. About this time the entire party became disgusted and left, carefully avoiding stepping on anything wet or touching any metallic substance as they went out. They are all satisfied that science is a most wonderful thing, but you can get too big a dose even of that.

Good Times.—According to the following, which we clip from the Alta California, of February 3d, the times in San Francisco must be more lively by a good deal, than in Salt Lake City. It makes a San Franciscan homesick to read it:

On Monday night nearly the entire population of San Francisco appeared to be abroad attending some place of amusement or public gathering; every place of resort was crowded. At Union Hall nearly 2,000 listened to Senator Nye. The Academy of Music was crowded almost to suffocation by those who went to see the Risley-Imperial Japs on their last appearance in San Francisco. At Maguire's Opera House there was not even standing room left, the occasion being the complimentary benefit to Manager Maguire. The Metropolitan was filled by the well pleased admirers of the Martinettis. The Young Men's Christian Association, monthly meeting, was well attended. The Board of Supervisors' Chamber was crowded as usual. The City Tract Society meeting was an unusually full one. The House Carpenter's meeting, at Central Hall, corner of Market and Second streets, was a large and spirited affair. A large number of ladies and gentlemen from the town visited the United States war steamer Vanderbilt, to attend the second entertainment by the Vanderbilt Literary Association. The meeting in opposition to the proposed De Haro Grant was fully attended, and a dozen other gatherings could be noticed if the list were not already long enough.

A Hint From New York.—The New York Evening Post says:

A San Francisco newspaper of late date presents a sad picture of the effects of unskillful legislation, aggravated by the incompetence of judges, which must call aloud for a speedy remedy:

"On the 30th of June last there were no less than 35,503 causes on file in our three District Courts. The Fourth District had 1,472 transferred from Court of First Instance; 6,306 from the Superior Court, and 12,975 others—making in all 20,775 in one court. The Twelfth District had 12,853, and the Fifteenth District 1,915. Surely no other city in the Union could parallel this. This is in addition to the business in the United States District and Circuit Courts, the County Court and the Justices' and Magistrates' Courts."

Such a state of things could arise only from ignorant legislation, indistinctness in the laws, complicated and roundabout methods of proceeding, a superstitious adherence to antiquated forms, and maxims inapplicable to the existing state of society, and judges incompetent to look through the sophistry and break through the chicanery of the lawyers, and come directly at the result by deciding cases promptly on their merits. One such judge in California might, with courage, reform all this in a year or two, by setting examples and laying down rules in such a way as to show that law is meant for the promotion and not for the obstruction of justice.

California School Childrens' Contribution to the Lincoln Monument.—The Chicago Evening Journal thus compliments California, and acknowledges a contribution at the same time:

The Hon. Newton Bateman has just received a draft from California for one thousand five hundred and twenty-one dollars and forty-six cents, forwarded by Hon. John Swett, Superintendent of Public Instruction of that State, being the first installment of funds contributed by the public school children of California, for the National Lincoln Monument. No one has entered more generously and heartily into this patriotic enterprise than Mr. Swett, nor have the public school children of any other State a nobler record, in connection therewith, than those of California. All honor to the Golden State of the Pacific, and to her noble Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Soldiers Discharged.—Discharges for the following named soldiers having miscarried through the mails, have found their way to Adjutant General George B. Evans, of whom they may be obtained by their owners on application. We publish the list at the request of General Evans, and advise the owners that if bounties or lands are to accrue to them or their families hereafter for their services, these discharges will be necessary to obtain the same. Aside from their value in this respect, an honorable discharge from the service of the United States is of inestimable value to a true soldier, as evidence of faithful service during the hour of his country's need, and the owners no doubt will be glad to learn where they can be recovered:

Gould & Curry.—We have received a pamphlet containing a full report of the operations of the Gould & Curry Mining Company, for the year 1866. The earnings of the Company were $1,720,290 72, of which $252,000 or 14.65 per cent. of the whole—were paid out in dividends. With a trifling exception of cash on hand, the balance went for current expenses. Dividends amounted to 10½ per cent. on the par value of the stock. The liabilities of the Company are $71,000 and its assets a little over $964,000. In six years the mine has yielded bullion to the amount of $13,766,499 15. There has been crushed, during the year, at the Company's mill 40,432 tons, at a cost of $13 19 per ton, and worked at custom mills, 17,880 tone, at an average cost per ton of $16 58, while in 1865 the cost was $20 36 a ton. The average yield of all ore, for the past year, was $28 47, whereas, in 1865, the average yield was $43 73, making a difference of $15 26 per ton in favor of the ores of 1865. The following are the officers of the Company elected for the ensuing year: Alpheus Bull, President; Louis Janin, Jr., Superintendent; W. C. Ralston, Treasurer; David Bowie, Secretary; Trustees, Alpheus Bull, John O. Earl, Lewis Cunningham, R. H. Pearson, H. B. Williams, A Seligman, B. F. Sherwood.—Virginia Union.

Misappropriated Honors.—The Virginia Union, of the 2d inst., is responsible for the following:

A laughable scene occurred at the sailing of the steamer at San Francisco on Wednesday. Senator Nye was one of the passengers, and so was Tom Maguire. That the latter might leave with all the honors, a large band of music assembled and discoursed him a harmonious farewell. While in the midst of some ravishing strains from La Traviata, Jim appeared on the deck of the steamer, and supposing, naturally enough, that as the citizens of San Francisco had wined, dined and speechified him, they should pay him this musical compliment also, he took off his historic white hat, and made a series of bows in acknowledgment. While his hat was waving in the air, and his flexible form bending low, some one in the crowd gave the cue: "Three cheers for Tom Maguire," which was taken up lustily by all, the musicians pausing to aid the general cheer. The "Gray Eagle of Liberty" was brought to a perpendicular very suddenly, looked a little set back when he found he had been appropriating what was not intended for him, and walked off to see that his baggage was all right.

Signal of Distress.—On Mondoy afternoon the colors of the British ship Archibald were observed to be flying Union down, as a signal of distress to the people on shore. A boat put off from the U. S. steamer Vanderbilt, and another was dispatched by the harbor police. It was found on reaching the vessel that it was in charge of the second mate, who was drunk, and who had been engaged in a fight with one of the crew. The policemen took charge of the ship until the first mate arrived, who was also drunk. He loudly claimed that he could take care of his ship, however, and the police left him to do so, notifying the captain, when they came ashore, that he ought to send a sober man to command during his absence.—San Francisco Times, January 30.

At Ottawa, Canada, lately, a young coquette, Julia Walter, had made an appointment to elope with a British private, John Welsh. While in waiting for the girl, the soldier was seized, gagged, stripped, and an old flame, Larry Lawler, whom Julia had jilted for the red coat, donned the uniform, kept the tryst, and was firmly tied to the girl before she discovered the mistake by a ready made priest feed for the occasion. The girl's mother had arranged the whole affair. Julia professed her willingness to allow things to remain as they were, her one desire for a husband having been satisfied.

The "local" of a Lynchburg paper says he saw a woman the other day from the country, underneath a new spoon-bowl hat, decked with a rooster feather, inside of a "tilting skeert," before a huge waterfall, having in her mouth a corn-cob pipe, and in her arms a baby about two months old. She looked like she felt she was in Mahomet's seventh heaven, and was just ready to exclaim, "cut the straps and let me go to glory."

A young Belgian violinist, Jehin Prume, who had made a reputation on the continent of Europe, it appears perished on the steamer Evening Star. He was under thirty years of age.

From Colorado.

The following items are from the Colorado Times, of the 31st ult.

A note from our Denver correspondent states that while Mr. Storer, grocer and auctioneer of this place, was passing across the Platte, near Denver, Tuesday evening last, the ice gave way and down went he and his horse to the bottom. The short depth of said bottom fortunately prevented him from falling into a watery grave. A man named Yager who happened to be near the river, ran to the rescue of Storer and horse; but, before the party got close to the bank the ice again gave way, where the water was deeper, and down went Yager, horse, saddle-bags and all, under the ice and haven't since been heard from. They floated, doubtless, a while under the icy bridge and then breathed their last. Mr. Storer still stays at Denver, and feels, of course, very much distressed over the affair.

We learn that Bill Updyke, the well-known knight of the tapes, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s line, was accidentally shot in the wrist while preventing a party from shooting at each other, on Tuesday night last, in a dance-room in Denver.

The last week's run by the Black Hawk G. M. Co. was 105 ounces "clean bankable gold." The returns from many of the larger mills, this week, are expected to be an increase on the previous ones, as the weather has moderated, and men and mills have a better chance to do good service.

We understand that the Dubois Mill started up again this morning, after its temporary rest, and intends to run steadily for a big Spring and Summer's work. It uses the Keith process. The University G. M. Co.'s mill, (the old Rounds' mill,) is also now going it, night and day, crushing their ores from the Gunnell.

SUICIDE.—Benjamin A. Ferguson, a miller by trade, in Gleenwood, Iowa, committed suicide on last Saturday morning. He was married to a respectable lady of Mills county, about the 1st of this month, since which time he received a note from a young lady in Omaha, said to be a cousin, saying she was enciente by him, and that she wanted $200. Upon the receipt of this note he went to the mill, drew a check for $600 in favor of the woman in Omaha, and then shot himself, causing instant death.—Omaha Herald, 26th ult.

RETURNED IN DISGUST.—Joseph Caprise, who went off to Mexico a short time ago in company with Colonel Gaston D'Artois, has returned to San Francisco, with a huge disgust for Mexico and Mexican affairs. It appears as though Mexicans cannot appreciate the sentiments which induce Californians to offer her a helping hand.—San Francisco Call.

DR. WILLIAM A. HAMMOND, ex-Surgeon General of the army, is writing a novel for recreation. The title of it is, "Robert Severne; His Friends and His Enemies," and it will not be a psychological study like Dr. Holmes's "Elsie Venner," but a story pure and simple. Dr. Hammond is already known as the author of several professional works.

A FRENCH court has decided that when a railroad fails to transport passengers to a given point in a given time, by the breaking down of an engine or any other accident, the company is bound to pay the expenses of the passengers who may adopt other means to reach their destination.

IN LUCK.—Mr. Sidney Sheppard, a salesman in the store of Rich & Oppenheimer in Nebraska City, a day or two since fell heir to $50,000 from the estate of a rich uncle who had died in Kentucky, and made Sheppard his sole heir.—Omaha Republican.

A telegram to the St. Louis Democrat says the first installment of the eight thousand troops ordered for duty on the plains have arrived at Omaha, and will be immediately forwarded over the Union Pacific Railroad to garrison the various Western forts.

THE Nebraska City News has intelligence that a large number of Canadians have determined to emigrate to Nebraska next season, and that an agent will soon be in our Territory to select lands for them.

Maj.-Gen. C. C. Augur, the new Commander of the Department of the Platte, Col. R. G. Dodge and Capt. F. T. Bennett, of the United States Army, arrived in the city yesterday.—Omaha Republican, Jan 26th.

PROHIBITORY.—A Portland paper says that an effort will be made in the Legislature of Maine, now in session, to put a stop to the sale of liquors by druggists as medicine, even when prescribed by physicians.

"Sarah," said a young man the other day, "why don't you wear ear-rings?" "Because I haven't had my ears pierced." "I will bore them for you." "Thank you, you have done that enough."

AN Indian chief now on his way to Washington, has had eighty-five wives. He must have done a heavy business in the divorce line.

IN Brazil large pine-apples cost four cents each, oranges one cent, bananas six for a cent, cigars ten for a cent.

W. W. ASTOR, son of John J. Jr., is a pupil of Thompson, the sculptor. A Psyche of his is well spoken of.

THE sick Emperor of the French is an inch shorter than the Empress.

THE Maryland State treasury has some $4,000,000 surplus.

STOCKTON LEATHER FOR THE EAST.—H. C. Wagner & Bro., tanners, of this city, send on by the steamer which leaves San Francisco to-morrow, one hundred sides, or ten rolls, of sole leather, to fill an order received from the shoe factory of C. & P. H. Terrill, South Weymouth, Massachusetts. This eastern manufacturing company assert that there is no better sole leather made in the United States than that produced in Stockton, and therefore they desire to procure all that can be supplied. Of late there has been a considerable demand in Oregon for the products of our tanneries. Whether it is due to superior skill in tanning, or to the peculiar merits of the material used, we cannot say; but it is an indisputable fact that our leather is eagerly sought for as an article of superior quality. The bark of Santa Cruz oak is used in connection with other tanning materials, so that the process is hastened as much as possible. The old plan which required a number of months for the treatment of hides in the tan-yard, is now almost universally ignored, and a method adopted by which the work is done in a few weeks at farthest. A writer says that "it is a common but mistaken impression that leather rapidly tanned is necessarily weak. On the contrary, the longer the hides remain in the liquor the more gelatine must be dissolved and lost, and consequently the more imperfect is the process." We are glad to perceive that this branch of Stockton manufacture is coming into universal notice, and that, even if California has to depend largely on the Eastern factories for boots and shoes, we can, at least, export a part of the material indispensable in their manufacture.—Stockton Independent, January 29th.

England has now 135,000 volunteer infantry, 27,000 volunteer artillery, 4,600 volunteer engineers, and a small contingent of volunteer cavalry, all well organized, well equipped, well armed, and singularly skilled in the use of their weapons.

An old bachelor, being laughed at by a party of pretty girls, told them: "You are small potaties." "We may be small potatoes," cries one of them, "but we are sweet ones."
